

Sandeep Tatla

The diversity champion

Each one of us wants to be valued and understood, and Sandeep is helping Manulife be a place that does just that: she's making diversity and inclusion part of our DNA. By embracing difference, she's fostering employee engagement and getting a genuine understanding of our customers.

Transcript

SANDEEP:

As the global head of diversity and inclusion, my role is to help create a culture where everyone can bring their real selves to work. I think one of the most exciting things is really in the way that we started to see people interact with each other and the types of conversations that they're having. We have a great opportunity with the diversity that we have at this organization to learn and leverage that we can best serve our customers.